

DIRECTORS OF
NEW ROAD MEETWestern Pacific Officials in Session
Daily in San Francisco.

TIES AND RAILS PURCHASED

WORK TO BEGIN IN SALT LAKE
IN NEAR FUTURE.

(Special to The Herald.)

San Francisco, Cal., June 21.—A meeting of the directors of the Western Pacific railroad was held here today. No official announcements were made as to the business disposed of. It is learned, however, that it was decided to make E. T. Jeffery president of the company, to succeed W. J. Bartlett, who is to become vice president and general counsel. Jeffery, who is one of George J. Gould's closest advisers, and who is president of Gould's Denver & Rio Grande system, will henceforth have charge of the building of the new transcontinental railroad.

At the meeting the directors prepared various contracts for construction work and construction materials. The information is given out that arrangements have been made for the purchase of 1,000,000 redwood ties and 100,000 tons of steel rails. While no construction work will be started for several weeks, preliminary arrangements to this end are being made by Chief Engineer Dillman and Consulting Engineer Bogue.

Contracts to Be Let Soon.

It is understood that various contracts for construction work on the stretch of track between Orville and Beckwith pass, where three tunnels will have to be built, have been determined upon and will be placed formally within a few days. Various railroad contractors throughout the country have been bidding on the work, and two well known New York contractors, C. E. Loss and W. H. Wells, have been the St. Francis for several days awaiting Engineer Bogue's return from the Feather river country to talk over construction matters.

The work will be begun simultaneously at both ends, but the heavier force will be in the California mountains, where the engineering feats are more perplexing. Construction parties will take the field in Utah some miles west of Salt Lake City. Arrangements are being pushed for terminal facilities.

Advices from Sacramento state that Joel F. Valle, general attorney for the Denver & Rio Grande, has been making an inspection of the proposed route of the Western Pacific railway in Butte and Yuba counties, California. Mr. Valle spent Sunday in the vicinity of Orville in company with a party which included Chief Engineer Dillman of the Western Pacific.

Mr. Valle was in Salt Lake City about two weeks ago en route from Denver to Marysville. He has been in San Francisco since Tuesday.

His visit to the coast is coincident with the transfer of the rights of way of the Indian Valley railroad of Butte county to the Western Pacific, and the transfer of the rights of way of the Butte & Plumas to the new road.

TALKS ON SAN PEDRO.

Omaha Railroad Man Says It Will Change Geography of West.
(Special to The Herald.)

Omaha, Neb., June 21.—Lucius W. Wakeley, general passenger agent of the Burlington, has returned from a three weeks' trip to the coast. He is enthusiastic over the Salt Lake route. Mr. Wakeley returned from Los Angeles over the new road.

He said today:

"The Salt Lake route, which is now operating passenger trains to the coast, bids fair to change the railroad geography of the west. It will certainly cause a general diversion of the routes of travel. To a considerable extent it will increase the run of southern California business through the Omaha gateway that has in recent years gone over the southern route."

FROM DENVER TO BOISE.

Proposed Route of New $10,000,000
Road Incorporated in Idaho.

Boise, June 21.—The Colorado, Wyoming & Idaho railroad, with a capitalization of $10,000,000, incorporated here today. The stock is divided into $100,000 shares and is now common. The proposed road is to start from Denver, run north to Larimer, then west to St. Anthony and Boise. It is understood that active construction work is to be commenced at once.

The trustees of the company are given as follows: W. R. West, Larimer, Wyo.; E. S. Chenoweth, McCracken, Kan.; Ora Haley, Laramie, Wyo.; Joseph Underwood, Chicago, Ill.; Stuart, Boston; John D. Milliken, McPherson, Kan.; M. Huse, Boston; Augustus Ruffner, Chicago; J. S. Christman, Danville, Ill. Mr. West is president and Mr. Chenoweth secretary of the board.

Railroad Notes.

A. R. McNitt has been announced as successor to A. R. Randolph, who was recently promoted to the position of chief clerk of the freight claim department, Oregon Short Line. The appointment is also announced of H. H. Jones to succeed T. J. Duddleston, recently promoted from the position of trainmaster on the Idaho division. Both Messrs. McNitt and Jones have been in the employ of the Oregon Short Line for years.

General Superintendent Everett Buckingham of the Oregon Short Line is with the congressional irrigation committee in Boise, Ida.

Traveling Passenger Agent Russell of the Burlington route left last night for Reno, where he will meet the lumbermen's special train, which arrives in Salt Lake Saturday. The train will remain in the city until Monday afternoon.

There is little public conception, particularly in the country east of the Missouri river, of what is being done and what is to be done for the great arid lands west of the muddy stream, by the government, assisted by the Harriman line, the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Oregon Short Line in the way of irrigation. When it is stated that the United States government has appropriated considerable sums of money for the dry districts, and the Harriman lines nearly $1,000,000, it is not surprising that the country contiguous to the line of the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line, but as country west of the Missouri, little is left out.

IN THE COURTS.

John M. Jensen has asked the district court to annul the marriage into which he entered with Katherine Jensen in Logan, Dec. 11, 1893. He says that she deceived him while out in 1903, and has since refused to live with him. Katherine Jensen, 19 years old, is now in the custody of the court, ranging in age from 2 to 19 years. He asks that he be awarded the custody of the minors among them.

Frank E. McGurkin, trading as F. E. McGurkin &amp; Co., yesterday began an action in the district court against Melvin Sermon and John A. The Granite Lumber company, which holds a lien on the property, is also made a party to the suit. Damage suits amounting to $2,000 were filed yesterday in the federal court by Thomas F. There were four suits in all, two equity and two for damages.

NO LONGER TRANSPARENT.

Paper and Cardboard in Windows
Screen Y. M. C. A. Swimmers
From Curious Public View.

Many persons were interested yesterday in the action of the Y. M. C. A. officials in "papering" the basement windows entering onto the swimming pool room. The Y. M. C. A. had been meeting of the newspaper and cardboard squares which were carefully nailed and plastered on the inside of the windows.

Had they been in the vicinity of the building yesterday they would have been still more interested and would have had less cause to wonder if they would have seen the Y. M. C. A. athletes to have been seen.

It is all right for glazed panes to be transparent, but when they are also light swimming pool, they lose their usefulness.

This was the trouble in the case of the Y. M. C. A. panes and explains the crowd of "rubbers" who congregated on East First South street near the police station earlier in the week. Chief of Police Lynch says that it was a surprise to him to note athletes of various ages standing around in costumes negligee in the extreme or placidly paddling about the pool all innocent of the outer world. Others, however, were some who were not the frosted window panes were not the paper and cardboard have been called into service.

OLD FOLKS READY TO GO

All Arrangements Complete for the Excursion to Brigham City
Today.

Many an old man and old woman went to bed in this town last night with their pulses beating higher than they have for many a day, and all because they were in a flutter of excitement concerning the annual outing of the old folks to Brigham City today.

Yesterday the committee on arrangements had its hands full distributing the list of the badges to the clubbers, and striving to soften the words of refusal that had to be spoken to those who came after the eleventh hour.

On the run to Brigham City lemonade and cake will be passed freely through the cars, and at noon in the town mentioned a banquet will be served.

The young committee named in yesterday's Herald are requested to meet at the Oregon Short Line depot at 7:30 o'clock this morning to give all the assistance required in seeing that the old folks meet with no mishap in boarding the cars before 8 o'clock. It is planned to start the train on the return trip at 1:30 o'clock so that every one can reach his or her home before dark.

An incident happened yesterday which shows how enthusiastic the old people are over the outing. An old man tottered into the baggage store and requested a ticket. He said:

"I am 86 years old, and I want to go on this excursion because I may not be alive to go on another. I would have applied before, but I don't know about the excursion until today. I have a daughter 2 years old, and I'd like to see her with me."

Mr. Savage informed the old man that all the tickets had been distributed, but if one of them was returned during the day he should have it.

A BUSINESS HOUSE TO BE PROUD OF.

The first stationery house in Salt Lake City to bring in a full carload of merchandise is an honor devolving upon the Breen Office Supply company, who brought in a carload over the Colorado Midland railroad recently. Salt Lake City is fast assuming metropolitan proportions and her merchants are ever up-to-date and anticipating the growth. Among all the firms in the city, this firm is the most up-to-date, and in their line it is hard to find a better equipped office furniture store in the country. They report that they are buying material in such quantities now as to get jobbers' prices, and are giving the office men of Salt Lake City an opportunity of buying the very best material for their use at prices even lower than in Chicago and New York.

The future of the office supply business is very great, as before long it will include all kinds of furniture and bookcases for use in an office, and also bookcases for use in the home, together with desks, steel vault fittings, all kinds of bookkeeping systems, beside the general run of better ink, pencils and the thousand and one things that go to make up a modern stationery store. The reason for the rapid growth of the Breen Office Supply company is largely due to their being experts in their line of business and having a most thorough and intricate knowledge of the goods they sell. Organized three years ago, they have now developed the largest business of its kind in Utah, and are fast adding to it. Their judgment of stationery articles is regarded as practical and reliable. It is a safe plan for the average office to purchase their entire stationery business to these people and thereby be assured of having the best material that can be supplied. They are rapidly outgrowing their room at 60 West Second South street, and before long we may see them in a two-story building on Main street.

CONSUL WANTS DATA.

Italians Who Die.

Governor John C. Cutler yesterday received a letter from P. Corte, Italian consul at Denver, in which attention is called to articles 9 and 16 of the consular convention of May, 1854, between the United States and Italy, which require that consuls be notified by the local authorities whenever any person of their nationality dies.

Consul Corte says this has not been done in the past, and that many relatives of Italians who have died in the country have not learned of their death until after the property left by them has been disposed of under the laws of the country. He says that he and others have been in the habit of getting away with the assets of dead Italians who at the time of their deaths were supposed to have been strangers and friendless in the localities in which their deaths occurred.

In response to the letter Governor Cutler said that he was in accord with the articles of the consular convention referred to, and that he would like to be informed of specific instances in which local officials had failed to notify the consuls of the deaths of their citizens. He would endeavor to bring about a better observance of the articles.
